

Check-out integration Requirements

In addition to the technical integration requirements, there are a few additional Riverty requirements that relate to the web store and to the Riverty checkout experience which we request to implement accordingly. These are listed below.

Presentation Riverty T&Cs and Privacy Policy

The Riverty T&Cs and Privacy Policy should ideally be displayed when selecting Riverty as a payment method, but at the latest when completing the order.

If the customer first must actively select Riverty on your payment method page, no checkbox is necessary to agree to the T&Cs for the payment method.

Terms & Conditions for payment method direct debit:

Terms & Conditions for payment method instalments:

In the terms and conditions for installment we refer to your store and mention it by name. You will therefore receive a URL created specifically for your store.

If you integrate via a plugin, you do not need to do anything other than adding the given MerchantID with the plugin.

If you integrate directly via APIs, you must make sure that the link to the Riverty T&Cs contains the correct country code as well as your MerchantID.

The MerchantID is a 5-digit code that can be provided by your integration manager.

Example: German shop with MerchantID = 12345

Applicable law - Client shop Terms & Conditions and Privacy Policy

There is also something to consider for your own T&Cs and data privacy policy. If you operate a store outside of Germany or Austria, e.g., with a company address in Hong Kong or Switzerland, you may have to adapt the paragraph regarding the choice of law. If you do not mention the applicable law or place of jurisdiction in your terms and conditions, you do not have to do anything. In this case, the applicable law of the country in which the buyer resides automatically applies. However, if you set out applicable law, arbitration clause, jury trial or similar in your T&C, then German or Austrian law must apply for customers residing in Germany or Austria. This requirement is necessary, otherwise Riverty cannot purchase your receivables.

If you have any further questions about this, please feel free to contact your Riverty Integration Manager.

Riverty logo as a payment method in your Webshop

The Riverty logo should be embedded on the home page of your web store along with other payment options. Most often, the payment methods offered in the store are mentioned in the footer of the home page.

Example 1:

If you already display the logos of the various payment methods in your shopping cart, the Riverty logo must also be integrated here.

Example 2:

The Riverty logo must be displayed in the checkout when selecting the payment method.
